

IRON COUNCIL ORDERS MEN BACK TO WORK

Shipbuilding to Be Resumed This Morning Despite Boilermakers OWNERS READY Government Hopeful That Progress of Fleet Now Will Be Rapid

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—All members of unions concerned in the strike of 30,000 metal trades workers here were instructed tonight by the Iron Trades Council to return to work tomorrow. H. W. Burton, president of the council, in a formal statement, said he had been assured that all ships would be open tomorrow morning. The action by the council, which all the striking unions are affiliated, and the decision of the employers to reopen their plants was taken to indicate that efforts would be made to continue operations, even if the boiler makers, and other unions, who prevented resumption of work today, refused to report for duty. The majority of the unions composing the council had ratified a temporary agreement made last Sunday by which the men were to return to work pending the drawing up of a permanent agreement by the federal board of conciliators. Mr. Burton's statement ordering the men back to work was: "Insofar as the Iron Trades Council is concerned, the temporary agreement has been accepted and the members of its affiliated unions instructed to go back to work. I have been assured by the conference committee of the California Metal Trades Association and California Foundrymen's Association that all shops will be open tomorrow, ready to resume work. The following notice to members of the two employers' associations, was sent out by the conference committee. A. S. Gunn, O. H. Fischer, Edward J. Power, with the approval of Constant Messer, president of the Metal Trades Association: "We have agreed with representatives of the Iron Trades Council that all shops will open for work Saturday morning. In accordance with this agreement, please open your shops. This notice cancels all previous notices. All work on one-eighth of the entire shipbuilding contracts let by the United States government has been paralyzed for two weeks by the walkout."

DEMENTED YOUTH SHOOTS WOMEN

One Is Dead and Two Others Are Seriously Injured

ALAMOGA, Cal., Sept. 28.—One woman was shot and killed and two others were seriously wounded tonight here. Kent Blair, a 25-year-old boy, was arrested by the police and charged with murder. The police said Blair was intoxicated, and in a fit of anger shot the woman with a rifle. Miss Eva Billings, a 25-year-old woman, was shot in the arm, and Miss Grace E. Wadsworth, a 25-year-old woman, was shot in the leg. The three women called at the home of Mrs. T. E. Blair, a cousin of Mrs. Wadsworth, who was shot. As they entered Mrs. Blair's house, the woman said, the police said, that the boy was in a dangerous mood. They turned away, and Blair appeared at the door and opened fire with a rifle, the police said. The police found Blair hiding in some bushes near the house, still clutching the rifle. He said he did not know why he had done the shooting, according to the police. The police said Blair was arrested a year ago on the complaint of his mother, who said he was demented. Later, the complaint was dismissed.

CHARLES A. DOYEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Colonel Charles A. Doyen of the marine corps, commanding the marine regiment with the first expedition to France, has been selected to promotion as brigadier general of the corps. It was learned today that his nomination was expected since his promotion means he will command the marine brigade which will soon be in France. Some marine units in addition to the first regiment sent have already reached the other side.

AIRPLANES AGAIN ATTACK ENGLAND

Intense Volume of Defensive Gunfire Reported From London

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Hostile airplanes attacked the southeast coast of England tonight. A few of them attempted to reach London but failed. No reports of casualties or damage have been received as yet. From the first telegrams received from the coast, the features of the air raid seem to have been the intense volume of the defensive gunfire and the speediness of the replies of the raiders. One dispatch says there was a tremendous roar of guns all along the Thames estuary. The numberless batteries at work put up a regular curtain fire. British airplanes also went up after the raiders and there was considerable air fighting. Afterward the firing gradually died away. One dispatch says several bombs were dropped in the rural areas southeast of London, a few miles inland, but that as far as was known there was neither damage nor casualties. Three Planes. A telegram from Kent says that three squadrons successfully crossed the coast flying well below thick clouds which obscured a nearly full moon. The invaders met with a hot reception from the anti-aircraft guns. Nevertheless, the first section managed to slide the shells and landed in the direction of... Another dispatch describes a small number of bombers as going toward London and returning unharmed. A telegram from Essex says that two bombs were dropped in that district. PETROGRAD, Sept. 28.—The Russian destroyer Odnobitnik was sunk by a mine in the Baltic on Wednesday. The destroyer, 214 feet long, of 635 tons displacement, was built in 1915. She was armed with two 4.7-inch guns and six 5.5-inch torpedoes. Her normal complement was ninety-eight men.

Marshal Haig Preparing New Attack in Flanders

At last accounts Field Marshal Haig was consolidating the positions won from the Germans in Wednesday's battle east of Ypres, the extension of which would give him a position dominating the Ostend-Lille railroad and linking both the northern and southern parts of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria's line.

All the commanding positions taken by the English, Scotch and Australian troops in the latest drive have been firmly held by them, despite numerous furious counter attacks delivered with huge effectiveness, in which the Germans suffered terrible losses.

The Berlin official communication reports that to the east of Ypres the British artillery again has assumed the proportions of drum fire, which is always an indication Haig has in store for the enemy a still further relentless attack against his lines.

Makes Attack in Forest of Argonne

Crown Prince Frederick William, probably imbued with the idea that at sometime he will be able to pierce General Verain's front along the southern part of the battle line in France, continues here and there to strike violently. His latest attempt has been in the forest of the Argonne, where three times he threw his troops against the Frenchmen.

The effort of the Germans was fruitless and brought to them only additional casualties.

Comparative quiet prevails on all the other battle fronts, although there has been a resumption by the Russians of their activities in the Caucasus, where at several points Ottoman forces have been defeated.

Need of American Shipping

The British controller of shipping announces that the losses of British ships since last February have approximately equaled the total losses in the war before that period and that it is reasonable to expect the enemy will destroy with U-boats 200 vessels in excess of the tonnage that can be built next spring. He said there is urgent need for the United States to undertake merchant building on a large scale as otherwise it will be impossible to send a substantial force of soldiers to France next spring without seriously affecting the tonnage required for carrying food to France, Italy and Great Britain.

INDICT 166 I. W. W. FOR WORKING TO BLOCK WAR

Haywood and Hundred Others Promptly Arrested at Chicago

SOME RELEASED

Only Leaders in Conspiracy Against Government Held

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—The federal government today delivered a second smashing blow at the lawless elements that have been active in hindering the wholehearted prosecution of the war. The move of the department of justice, which began weeks ago in the simultaneous raids on headquarters of the Industrial Workers of the World, reached a climax with the indictment in the federal courts of 166 leaders and members of that organization and the prompt arrest of more than 100 of them, including William D. Haywood, the general secretary and treasurer.

Haywood and the others were brought in in motor cars, driven by society women, members of the navy relief society, who for weeks have put their automobiles at the call of agents of the department of justice. Haywood was held in $25,000 bond and the others of lesser weight in the organization at $10,000. Some of those taken in the first raid proved to be merely loungers about the I. W. W. headquarters and were released after being examined.

The sections of the espionage law of the United States code under which the men were indicted, read as follows: "Whoever, when the United States is at war, shall cause in subordination, disloyalty, mutiny or refusal of duty in the military or naval forces of the United States, or shall willfully obstruct the recruiting or enlistment service of the United States to the injury of the service of the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for twenty years or both."

Section 5 of the United States criminal code forbids conspiracy to overthrow the government or to take any of the property of the United States and violations of this code are punishable by a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for ten years or both. Section 19 prohibits intimidation of citizens and carries a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for ten years.

Section 37 deals with general conspiracy against the government and fixes a punishment of a fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for two years or both.

An explanatory statement issued by the government attorneys who have directed the investigation of the sedition conspiracy, the outcome of which the men named in the indictments are accused, said:

"The prosecutions are under sections six, fifteen and thirty-seven of the criminal code and under the espionage act. Only leaders in conspiracy or those personally culpable in connection with the perpetration of crimes against the United States are included as defendants."

To permit the safe arrest of the indicted men, no hint of their names was permitted to escape during the proceedings, which occupied only a few minutes and consisted of a statement from the foreman of the federal grand jury that his labors had been completed, the handing of a letterhead of indictments to the clerk of the court and a few brief words from Judge Evan Owens thanking the jurors for their sacrifice of time and effort and assuring them that they had done their duty as citizens, a duty which the court said was "quite as important as any obligation which rests on a citizen."

None but members of the I. W. W. were named in the indictments, the government attorneys taking pains to specify that no others were touched. Purpose to Wreck Government. District Attorney Clegg, under whose direction the work of the grand jury was accomplished, was assisted by...

ACQUITS OXMAN; REARRESTED AT ONCE FOR PERJURY

Only One Man on First Ballot for Conviction of Cattleman

TRIAL 16 DAYS

New Complaint Signed By Sister of Mrs. Mooney

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Frank C. Oxman, Durkee, Oregon, cattleman, was acquitted tonight of a charge of attempted subornation of perjury growing out of the conviction of Thomas J. Mooney on a murder charge in connection with the preparedness parade bomb explosion here last year. Shortly afterward a new warrant for his arrest was issued at the instance of Mrs. Belle Hubbard, a sister of Mooney's wife. It was served on the Oregon cattleman at his hotel. The warrant charges perjury. Oxman was permitted to confer with his attorneys and he was then taken to the city prison.

The jury deliberated one hour and fifteen minutes. On the first ballot, according to a juror, the vote was eleven to one for acquittal.

"We would have reached a verdict five minutes after we went out had it not been for this one man," said a juror. "He was finally won over from his conviction viewpoint, after more than an hour of argument."

Mrs. Oxman, wife of the acquitted man, who accompanied him here from Oregon, shook hands with the jurors after the verdict had been announced. Witness Against Mooney.

Oxman was brought to trial September 12. He had been the principal prosecution witness against Thomas J. Mooney. After Mooney's conviction and subsequent sentence to death, attorneys for the defendants in the bomb murder cases unearthed letters which Oxman had written to Rigdon, asking him to testify against Mooney. Rigdon came to this city, but was not called upon to testify.

Oxman admitted writing these letters, but declared he had added a subscript to one of them directing Rigdon to testify against Mooney. He had been in San Francisco July 22, 1916, the day of the explosion which killed ten persons and injured forty others.

As a result of publicity given these letters, State Attorney General U. S. Webb filed a subpoena with the state supreme court in which he requested a new trial for Mooney. The trial was denied on this stipulation because the court held it had no jurisdiction to act on such a document. Mooney's appeal is pending.

President Wilson interested himself in the Mooney case and last May sent Governor Stephens a letter in which he asked that the execution be stayed until after Oxman's trial.

Two others of the five defendants in the bomb murder cases have been tried. Warren K. Billings was sentenced to life imprisonment and Mrs. Rena Mooney, Thomas J. Mooney's wife, was acquitted. Edward Nolan and Israel Weinberg are to be tried in the near future.

TRAIN'S COLLIDE; TWENTY-SEVEN DIE

Fifty Others Injured as Result of Misunderstanding Orders

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 28.—Twenty-seven persons were killed and fifty injured, half of them seriously, in a head-on collision one mile southwest of Kellyville today when St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train No. 7 ran into an empty eastbound troop train.

Seven of the dead were white, seventeen negroes and three Indians. The bodies were removed to morgues at Bristow and Sapulpa.

The collision occurred just after the passenger train crossed the bridge over the creek. The crews of both engines jumped, saving their lives, but were severely injured.

The troop train was running in two sections and the first had passed the passenger train just out of Kellyville. Engineer Rile, not knowing there was another section behind, took the main track and crossed the river.

BENNETT WINS ON NEW YORK RECOUNT

Mitchell Will Run for Mayor Independently if There Is Demand

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—William M. Bennett won the Republican nomination for mayor in the primaries last week by a majority of 611 votes over Mayor John P. Mitchell, according to an unofficial report of the ballots which was completed last tonight. The final compilation of returns by the board of elections gave Mitchell a lead of 235.

Mayor John P. Mitchell, in a statement last night in response to inquiries as to whether he would be an independent candidate for mayor in view of the apparent certainty that the Republican nomination has been won by William P. Bennett, said he would not run if there is a "sufficiently substantial demand" for him to do so. He would make the fight, he said, in order to keep the city out of the grip of Tammany Hall.

REPORT JAPANESE DESTROYERS SINK U-BOAT OFF SPAIN

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 28.—The Canadian News, a Japanese daily newspaper, today received a special cable from Tokyo today announcing it is reported in Tokyo that Japanese destroyers in a fight with German U-boats off the coast of Spain near Barcelona, sent one submarine to the bottom.

EMBARGO PUT ON ALL NEWS FROM EUROPEAN FRONT

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Correspondents at British headquarters in France and also all their English and American newspapers to expect nothing from their respective correspondents today. No reason for this was assigned.

No reason for the withholding of the dispatches of newspaper correspondents on the British front in France is known. The only occasion previously of interrupting the news of the correspondents was in October, 1916, when it was announced from London that thousands of words of news from Associated Press correspondents in Sofia and from the German lines on the western battle front were being withheld by the British censor. Two days later an announcement was received of the entry of Italian troops into the war on the side of the Teutonic allies and a day still later came the news that Field Marshal Sir John French, who had remained silent for five days, had made considerable gains in the Loos sector. It was reported that the German lines from 500 to 1,000 yards in depth.

AUSTRALIANS IN LATEST ADVANCE

Many Older German Men Among Latest Prisoners

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Sept. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—The British today continue to strengthen the line to which they battled their way yesterday. The Australians captured their conquest of the German line in the eastern sector of Polygon wood. The two trenches, secured here, reported the only remaining, troublesome points along the Anzac front, which reaches northward to the ocean of Polygon wood.

There has been much hand fighting in this section, but today the weary Germans apparently withdrew to more favorable ground further back and the Australians pushed forward.

To the south of this the Germans continue to hammer away with their artillery at the British defenses astride the Menin road and make threats of an infantry assault.

The region of Hill 60, near Zonnebeke, has been a hotly contested ground. The consolidations have been completed by the British in a majority of the places. About nine German counter attacks in various stages of preparation were broken by the Australians. Most of these were smashed in their infancy by the artillery. Later a fresh German division was rushed up in motors in an attack at a point west of the Australians and about 7 o'clock advanced in three waves, preceded by a heavy barrage.

Their progress was steady until the Anzacs put a withering fire on their ranks from machine guns and rifles. Then they were broken up and finally turned back, leaving many dead on the field.

Tuesday's Fighting. The details of Tuesday's hard fighting north of the Menin road, when the Germans made a fierce attack, indicates that the Anzacs also played a helpful part. It was their determined counter attack from the north against the German right flank that had much to do with forcing back the enemy and covering positions temporarily lost.

On the northern front of the line, after the region east of Zonnebeke, some interesting German prisoners were found today. A number of prisoners' cages were filled with a number of middle-aged men, who looked far different from men of the war time type. They said the Germans had used up all of their 1918 class and that as the 1918 class was not ready, they were calling up old men.

One officer captured with some Saxons took a very dark view of the German situation. He declared that the war would be over in the spring, and when asked his reason for this belief replied: "Because the Americans will be over here then and you will have too many men for us."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 28.—Further progress toward uniting the northern and southern branches of the Presbyterian church was made today at the concluding session here of a conference of representatives representing both churches. Final action was postponed until December, when another conference is to be held in Richmond, Va.

Announcement was made after today's session that the proposed union of the two branches of the church, which have been separated since Civil War days, could be based on the doctrine and mode of worship now used in both portions of the church.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Commercial silver broke another 4 cents on the market today, selling at 67 5/8. This represents a decline of 10 7/8 cents an ounce since last Tuesday. Mexican silver dollars also fell 4 cents to 75, a decline of 11 cents in three days.

STORM HOLDS LENGTH OF MEXICAN GULF

No Loss of Life Reported Yet; Pensacola Isolated

CROP DAMAGE

Various Ports Send Word of Having Escaped Peril

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss., Sept. 28.—Gulfport, Biloxi, Bay St. Louis, Long Beach and other points along the Mississippi coast came through today's tropical hurricane with very little property damage. So far as reported there was no loss of life.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 28.—Although the wind at places attained a velocity as high as 100 miles an hour, the hurricane, which struck the Gulf coast from the Mississippi river to the west coast of Florida escaped serious damage today, unless there was great loss at Pensacola, the only city which tonight was cut off from communication.

For hours the entire coast was isolated, all telegraph and telephone wires being down. Fears were entertained that the hurricane might exact such a toll as that of last year when many lives were lost and several million dollars' worth of property destroyed.

With communication restored tonight to Mobile, Gulfport, Biloxi, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis, Long Beach and other towns, there were no reports of loss of life, and the property loss apparently was comparatively small.

Ample warnings of the hurricane's approach had been given, even to the most remote sections, and to this fact is attributed the saving of many lives.

Ship Helpless

A GULF PORT, Sept. 28.—A big British steamer, which left this port Saturday morning is lying helpless three or four miles off shore after being battered for many hours by the tropical hurricane which struck the east Gulf coast Thursday, according to a wireless message received here today. Agents of the ship declined to give out the nature of the trouble, but it is understood the vessel's propeller shaft was broken.

No loss of life was reported. The ship ran squarely into the hurricane and after battling against the waves for many hours, was finally put out of commission. Reports said the ship is in no immediate danger. She will be towed to port for repairs. Aid was dispatched from this port today.

Strikes Isle of Pines

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 28.—One steamer and several sailing vessels were sunk, numerous houses, barns, roads and great damage done to growing crops and fruits by the West Indian hurricane which struck the Isle of Pines Wednesday evening, according to dispatches received here tonight.

Yates had threatened to attack the main land, said it was believed there many persons perished in the islands, although no definite information regarding the casualties has been received here.

JOB GONE, KILLS MAN RESPONSIBLE

Former Fort Worth Detective Then Killed By Police

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 28.—J. M. Parsley, police commissioner, was shot and killed today in his private office in the city hall by J. K. Yates, former police inspector, who in turn was shot to death by a group of officers after he had barricaded himself in the commissioner's office.

Yates had threatened both Mayor Davis and Commissioner Parsley, it was said, and went to the city hall today seeking the mayor. Not finding him, Yates went to Parsley's office. A number of shots were fired and officers rushed upstairs to find the door barricaded. Chief of Police Montgomery sent for riot guns and a fierce exchange of shots through the door to the commissioner's office ensued. The door finally was broken in and the former police inspector's body was shot twice through the head.

Mayor Davis and Commissioner Parsley took office after the last city election. When appointments were made to the police force, Yates' name was not on the list. Friends said that Yates had been troubling over the loss of his position and it was reported that he had threatened to "clean up" at the city hall unless got back to work.

Yates, it was learned tonight, attempted today to kill his daughter, Mrs. Albert Kerner, who escaped and ran to the home of Sheriff U. C. Maga. Sheriff Maga went to Yates' home and succeeded in getting the former policeman to start toward the city with him. The sheriff stopped to serve some papers and Yates boarded a street car and proceeded immediately to the city hall.

Yates apparently had intended also to kill Chief of Police Montgomery and Chief of Detectives Connolly, according to information given tonight by former Police Captain Garner, an associate of Yates when both served in the police department.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 28.—It was announced here today that the British School of Aerial Gunnery will be moved here from Toronto, Canada, for winter work. Twenty airplanes of the British royal flying corps arrived this morning, but will not be put into service for two weeks yet, according to Major Scott, commanding the flying division.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 28.—Marsh Da Mott of Corning, California, the state board of education, today was appointed a member of the state board of control by Governor Stephens. He succeeds John F. Neely, resigned.

CONGRESSMEN MIX OVER GERMAN ISSUE

Physical Encounter But No Action Toward Probe

NORTON RAMPANT

Rules Committee Fears to Give Immunity to Offenders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Hot debate, culminating in a physical encounter between Representatives Hefflin of Alabama and Norton of North Dakota today, was precipitated in the House today by a report from the rules committee that it had decided not to act on any of the various resolutions for an inquiry into whether members of Congress have been influenced by German money.

At adjournment tonight the two belated legislators were named for an opportunity to address the House and other members who want an inquiry were striving to have one ordered in spite of the committee's report. Discussion will be resumed tomorrow with debate from both sides of the House for investigation of Hefflin's charges that several members have not acted loyally.

Chairman Poin explained, in substance, that the committee report, that an inquiry would interfere with sweeping investigation of the use of German money now being made by the department of justice. He said Representative Hefflin had not reflected on the integrity of any member of the House, but had spoken in the heat of debate. Some loud groans greeted the latter statement. Representative Hefflin of Illinois, who had been criticized by Hefflin for introducing measures to exempt man-made Americans from military service, shouted that a resolution to expel Hefflin should be considered immediately.

In the midst of the storm, Representative Hefflin of Minnesota switched the discussion to other business and thenceforth, save for the few minutes in which Hefflin and Norton had their near-ribs, the subject was not broached until just before adjournment.

The clash started during a lull in the proceedings after Norton had been refused time to reply to reports that Hefflin had said he was disloyal. It came most unexpectedly to the fifty or more members present.

After failing to get the floor, Norton went through the Republican side to the back of the House, and walked to the aisle. He then turned and faced Hefflin, who was seated at a table, writing. Neither man greeted the other, but after gazing steadily at Hefflin for a moment, Norton spoke:

"Did you ever say, at any time, or give out a report to anyone, that I was disloyal in this war?" he asked. "No, I did not," he replied. There was a moment's silence, during which Norton continued to glare at Hefflin, who was still seated.

"I'll go back when I get ready," Norton responded.

Then Hefflin arose, grasped Norton by the coat lapels and began backing him toward a row of seats. Norton, the lighter of the two by 20 pounds, came back with a vigorous push that drove the Alabama member against an assistant sergeant-at-arms and several members pulled the men apart, while Sergeant-at-Arms Gordon hurried down the aisle to display his massive mace, the historic symbol of authority, the mere lifting of which is supposed to reduce to fear and quiet the most obstreperous.

Looking for Fight. Members flocked from both sides of the House and poured out of cloak rooms toward the scene of action, many climbing over benches in their haste. Some laughingly urged that the combat be permitted to continue.

Representative Johnson of Kentucky, in the chair, pounded frantically with his gavel and shouted for order.

Representative Hefflin began to wave his hands and shout, but he was restrained by the speaker. Representative Haver of North Dakota, were swimming across the dividing aisle to the Democratic side.

"Go back on your own side, or you will get hurt," he yelled, indicating his willingness to take on other opponents.

"Take off your guns, and you will have a chance," said Representative Cooper.

But the hostilities were over. Norton and the other Republicans withdrew, while the Alabama member straightened out his vest and resumed writing. Norton appeared on the floor after a few moments, and also began writing. The members returned to their seats throughout the rest of the day with vigors vainly hoping for a resumption of the entertainment.

MUST SLASH PRICE OF BREAD HERE, SAYS TOOMEY

Mayor Reports Fresno
Pays More for Bread
Than Other Cities

Wants to Change Date for End of Fiscal Year to Meet Tax Payments

That Fresno pays more and gets less bread for the money than any other city of its size in the state, was the statement made last night by Mayor Toomey, who has just returned from Santa Rosa, where he attended the convention of the California League of Municipalities. Mayor Toomey reports that it was a very interesting convention and that many questions of importance in reference to city government were discussed by the various speakers.

"Upon my return to San Francisco I called upon many of the leading bakers and found that they were very much in favor of the standardization for weights of loaves of bread," said the mayor in speaking of the bread situation. "I found that in San Francisco and San Jose twelve-ounce loaves were selling at 7 1/2 cents, and at some places as low as 6 cents. Twenty-four ounce loaves were selling at 15 cents and the bakers were well satisfied with the situation. In this city loaves from ten to twelve ounces have been selling at 9 cents, and locally the increase in price cannot be understood. At the convention in Santa Rosa I predicted that if Fresno bakers did not meet the prices prevailing in other cities that bread would be shipped here.

City Planning Problems
"The city planning problems were thoroughly discussed by many learned men at the convention," continued Mayor Toomey, "and it was found that there was very much sentiment in favor of city planning and zoning, but from conversations with different city officials I found that it was the consensus of opinion that too rapid steps should not be taken. Men from other cities thought it best to secure some good plan to plan much and get nothing. Ten Fresno men were present at the convention, including all of the city planners with the exception of Mr. Payne and Mr. Goodfellow, and we learned many points in regard to city government."

One of the matters that impressed Mr. Toomey and which he will take up with the city council at a later date will be the changing of the date for the end of the fiscal year. At present Fresno's fiscal year ends June 30, while the tax money is not available until after the first of the year. In this manner the city is officially broke for a few months each year. Pasadena, San Jose and San Diego have changed the fiscal year, and the mayor hopes to accomplish the same for Fresno.

City health problems were discussed at the convention and Dr. C. M. Johnson, city health officer of Fresno, was in attendance.

MERCHANTS MAKE BIG SHOWING AT FAIR

Mother Inspects Displays
While Father Takes Son to Track Meet

How to Wash Without Working Is One
Secret Revealed

Q stands for quadrivium, which means where four roads meet. And perhaps that's why the mercantile displays were labeled Division Q by the fair management. They are spread throughout a building set down in the exact center of the fair grounds and the four roads that meet there were thronged yesterday by housewives who drifted over to learn how to wash without working and how to run a sewing machine without exerting their feet, while father and the boys watched the athletic games or loomed up and down the play street, where shrieking cyclists attempted to relieve them of their super money.

Of all the exhibits in the mercantile building the most unusual and attractive was the booth in which were set forth the charms of Atascadero and its far-flung beach.

Seldom has a resort or townsite been exploited by a collection of well-drawn oils, pastels and water-colored sketches. Yet it is a small little corner fully hung art gallery that Atascadero sent to the fair. And the pictures—all by Ralph Holmes—are fairly filled with the breath of the ocean and the pines.

Another extremely attractive exhibit, which drew the crowds, is made by the California Redwood Association. A replica of the little Greek chapel that stood at Fort Ross, a Russian outpost in Sonoma county, in 1823 is made of redwood taken from the original old chapel. Each detail of the chapel is faithfully reproduced. The floor of the booth is made of redwood paving blocks and finished boards, demonstrating the use of the wood for walls.

In the San Francisco Electrical Appliance company's booth is an exhibit that does the heart of the housewife good. It contains all sorts of electrical appliances to make housework easy. There is an entire laundry run by electric wash-women, which means that clothes are washed and wrung by electricity. There is also shown a sewing machine which is operated by electric power instead of foot power.

Making the circuit around the octagonal building to the right, beginning at the main entrance to the pavilion, one comes first to the booth of the Hockett-Turist company, where Edison photographs, records and Chickering pianos are displayed.

Next is the exhibit of Boussem photographs, containing a splendid collection of artistically posed pictures. On around the corner is the display of the San Francisco Electric Appliance company, and beyond it a booth of the New York Cleaning and Dye Works, in which are displayed the different colors of dye used. The Kutter-Goldstein company, farther on, has a large and comprehensive display of stoves, gas, coal and combination, supplemented by an exhibit of heaters.

Health's Business College displays its methods, and young boys and girls thronged the booth all day long, operating adding machines and typewriters.

The Fisher-Glassford company makes a beautiful display of Wedgewood stoves and the Liberty theater exhibits its new Simplex projection machine, built especially for the new Liberty theater. Alongside the new machine, for the sake of comparison, is shown one of the first projection machines, used in the motion picture theater.

The Fresno Rug Works presents an attractive display of fluff and rag rugs, "made from your old carpets and rugs."

The National Cash Register company, represented by E. E. Whitney, displays the various models of its register, and Nishikien's has a large exhibit of Edison photographs and Victrolas. The San Joaquin Light & Power company has one of the largest booths in the building filled with every manner of electric devices. There are electric irons, toasters, every thing electrical for the kitchen, vacuum cleaners, lamps and a hundred other things.

The Fresno Republican has a booth on the central axis opposite the main entrance and displays a stereotyped page ready to be put in the big cylinder press, together with a number of matrices.

The Fresno Plumbing Supply company has an attractive display of bathroom fittings, and the studio of Fred Hartenack and Beck's studio present large displays of splendidly taken photographs.

Around the corner from them is an exhibit of—well, those black things that women fit across over their heads they do their own dressmaking. Over this headless woman in mourning was a sign bearing the simple inscription, "Sexton Dress Forme." J. J. Nishikien exhibits Poole pianos and Sonora photographs.

At the booth of the C. E. Cross, Rice Milling company visitors are presented with rice packages.

In an open pavilion adjoining the building set apart for the mercantile division is a large booth given over to displays of the Baldwin pianos and the Manuale players; a booth exploiting the Capay ranch lands; an exhibit of Brunswick phonographs by the Fresno Sales company; a display of the Sherwood Supply company's systems for lighting and cooking. Other booths are devoted to the Canadian wheat lands, the "Joleas" cement refractories of the Plaster-Hampton company of Palmer, Oklahoma, "The Factory City," Polkenstein's music house, where a tenor sang selections during a greater part of the afternoon.

LIBERTY BONDS

The announcement of the new issue of Liberty bonds at 4 per cent and the already put the price of the old bonds above par and indicated very active trading in them. Of course, so long as 4 per cent government bonds can be had at par, the price of the previous issue now convertible into 4 per cent, can not go much above par. The premium at most can measure the advantage of the earlier availability of the bonds already issued. But if these bonds, even before their actual conversion into 4 per cent, and in face of the competition of 4 per cent bonds at par only a month ahead, can already go to a small premium, it is evident that after the 4 per cent bonds are all issued they will remain permanently at least at par, even for emergency sales, and will attain a market level definitely above par. They are decidedly a sound investment, with interest as high as a savings bank and with the possibility of ultimate profit in addition. If the war lasts long and expensively, and interest on public securities goes above 4 per cent, on future loans, these bonds will draw above 4 per cent also. If the war ends before this point is reached, these bonds will go decidedly above par in value. Either way, the investment is a sound and desirable one.

I. W. W. ARRESTS

The prompt action of the federal authorities against the I. W. W. leaders has probably put that organization out of the way of doing present harm. Its members are mostly rather helpless without leadership and now the leaders and the source of money are both sequestered, while the organization itself by demonstrated sedition, has become hated and despised by all normal-minded Americans. As a war measure, the promptness and decisiveness of the course of the government could not have been improved upon. Let us have no illusions, however, that in getting rid of the I. W. W. we have got rid of all the dangers menaced by them or of all the dangers menaced by them. I. W. W.ism, aside from its sedition, is the product of two forces—discontent and syndicalism. The discontent will be less in these days when there are more jobs than men, but it will still remain on a tremendous scale. And we may as well face the fact that much of it is justified discontent. The remedies proposed by the I. W. W. are even worse than the disease. But we may as well realize that the disease does exist. Syndicalism as a theory of labor organization also still exists and we shall have to reckon with it.

STRIKE RIGHTS

Unless something happens between now and opening time this morning, the San Francisco metal trades strike is settled temporarily, with a permanent settlement in sight. But on the very day of this fortunate consummation in San Francisco a similar strike in Seattle is precipitated. Doubtless that strike, too, will be settled in time on some basis. But meantime the construction of ships is delayed, and that means delay in ending the war and a probable cost of many lives. That workmen, even those engaged in the direct production of equipment of war, should desire to better their own conditions, to meet the increased cost of living and to secure to themselves their share of the war profits, is natural enough, and means should be found, and, in fact, are now being provided to secure this end. Even a strike, if it is to compel a hearing and a determination, is justifiable. But in the present emergency a strike against the findings of whatever tribunal may be provided is not justifiable and must not be tolerated.

SOME RIGHTS WHICH IN TIME OF PEACE ARE ABSOLUTE BECOME IN TIME OF WAR VERY LIMITED.

In time of peace the right of the manufacturer or the producer to hold his goods and refuse to sell them if not satisfied with the price offered was absolute. Now the government fixes the price which it will pay and compels all owners to sell at that price, whether they like it or not, and whether any one else offers a higher price or not. In the same way, in time of peace, workmen were themselves the judges whether or not they would accept the findings of any mediation commission, and their right to that judgment was absolute, whether they exercised it wisely or foolishly. In war times that right ceases to exist. They have the right to a hearing before some fair tribunal and to a determination. But if that determination does not satisfy them and if they think it is unjust, they must accept it, nevertheless. This is their moral duty, without compulsion, and it is within the power and right of the government, if necessary, to enforce it by compulsion, contrary to the so-called inalienable right of personal liberty. The rights of life, liberty, property and the pursuit of happiness have ceased to be absolute or inalienable for the term of the war, and it is for the government to determine as justly as it can, but to determine anyhow, what all men shall do with their labor, their liberty, their lives and their property.

THE GOVERNMENT HAS THE RIGHT TO TAKE MEN AGAINST THEIR WILL AND SEND THEM TO BE KILLED, AND IS NOW DOING SO.

The government has the right to take property without the consent of the owners and without due process of any process of law, and to use it, upon such compensation as it determines, and the government is now exercising this right. The right to take life includes the lesser right to curtail liberty. The right to determine compensation for property is a lesser right, but the owner includes the right to determine compensation for services rendered. This right is its extreme and arbitrary form; it is hardly likely to be

PARAMOUNT CO. PRESIDENT HERE

Hiram Abrams, president of the Paramount Pictures corporation, one of the largest moving picture distributors, arrived in Fresno yesterday in the course of a tour of the country he is making to consult with motion picture exhibitors. He is accompanied by P. B. Schubert, general manager of the Paramount. They were entertained last evening by Emil Reichen at the University Club, and left today for the north.

I'd Like to Be a Sailor.

I'd like to be a sailor man and sailer on the sea. The thing I saw on screen last night makes me a bit with me. I saw it at the Liberty, between the other shows. It shows how we prepare our boys to mix it with the foe; they go to school and learn to dress and straighten up their backs and more than that, they load their minds with lots of bright facts; they learn to shoot all kinds of guns, they learn to row a boat, and all these things they'll need some day to get the Kaiser's goat. And there is one thing more they learn that wasn't on the screen; you know the kind of mean about a well known village street that is known as "Old Broadway" or mean, contemptuous things of Kaiser Bill those sailors eat. O, could I but learn to grand to be a sailor man, and learn to sing such songs as this when they are on the land. "Where do you come from here, where do you go from here? Let's slip a pill to Kaiser Bill and make him shed a tear. And when we meet the enemy well show him in the rear. O, boy! O, boy! where do we go from here?"

SHORT AND CARR

DEBATE COURT ACT

Fresno Lawyer May Be Elected President of State Association

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Sept. 28.—The greater part of today was occupied by the California Bar Association in discussing the proposed constitutional amendment No. 41, by which the legislature would be vested with the control of the courts of the state. The affirmative was taken by State Senator William J. Carr of Los Angeles and the negative by Frank H. Short of Fresno. A strong point made by the affirmative was that what is sought is virtually provided for in the constitution of the United States, while the amendment was attacked on the ground that it is an attempt to make the judiciary subservient to the legislature. The discussion, indulged in by many of the delegates, was at times very spirited. Because of this protracted discussion a number of sectional matters were delayed until tomorrow, when the election of officers will also take place.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 28.—On the platform of the auditorium where Senator La Follette last week denounced American entry into the war on what he termed a violation of "technical rights," Colonel Roosevelt, choosing the Wisconsin senator among the "Hans within our gates," declared tonight he would like to send La Follette and his "shadow Hans" to Germany as "free gift to the Kaiser."

Arrests Elsewhere

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 28.—United States Deputy Marshal J. W. Moran tonight arrested Francis Miller, who is said to be a national officer of the Industrial Workers of the World. Miller is held on a warrant charging him with conspiring to commit an offense against the United States in violation of sections 8, 9 and 10 of the criminal code.

STOCKTON, Cal., Sept. 28.—

William W. W. was arrested tonight by the United States Marshal's office in Stockton. He is being held in the county jail here pending the arrival of a federal officer. Turning again to the shipment of munitions, Senator La Follette said it was the senator's business to know what were the treaty rights of Americans. He declared that it was through Germany's insistence that the Hague agreement sanctioned the shipment of munitions and that it was time for the United States to stand up for its principles. The senator referred to Congressmen Baer of North Dakota, the Non-Partisan party representative in Congress.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The slight wounding of First Lieutenant Howard E. Keating of Philadelphia, medical corps, during an air raid on the night of September 23, was reported to the war department today in a report from the War Department, Company F, First Infantry, as a result of an accident in the line of duty, also was reported.

Mrs. E. J. Bullard entertained at the largest affair of the early fall season yesterday afternoon, completing Miss Hazel Cullen, a popular bride-to-be, at a bridge function given at her home on Blackstone avenue. Dahlias of rich coloring and roses were used in the decoration of the spacious rooms, where a series of tables were arranged for the afternoon's games. Refreshments were dispensed on attractively appointed table trays that were ornate with bouquets of bride's roses.

Lovely souvenirs were awarded to those holding highest scores, the fortunate ones being Mrs. Carl Hansen, Miss Henrietta Burns and Miss May Baker, while a guest prize was presented to Miss Cullen.

Among those who shared the hospitality of the occasion were Misses Margaret Miller, Marie Bolton, Marie Chartreud, Vida Parr, Emma Glass, Elaine Andrews, Florence Lockwood, Edith Hadsell, Grovina Hadsell, Roxie Hisselt, Marguerite Humphrey, Georgia Barker, Lucy McGarry, Elizabeth McGarry, Henrietta Burns, Clara Grant, Emma Rix, Marjorie Guard, Ida Baker, Harriet Baker, Pearl Brooks, Irene Fletcher, Mesdames Lyman Egerly, Floyd Harkness, Carl Hansen, Ralph Vianello, J. R. Pottle, T. R. Thomson, Floyd L. H. Harkness, Robert Sorenson, Edward Grant, Sophie Gilbert.

Assisting Mrs. Bullard were Mrs. W. D. Cullen, Mrs. J. R. Walker, Mrs. Harry C. Wilber, Mrs. C. H. Rotaling and Mrs. P. J. Craycroft.

A large number of Presnians will be interested in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mildred Needham, daughter of Congressman and Mrs. J. C. Needham, to Lieut. Edward T. Taylor, Jr., son of Congressman Taylor of Colorado.

The following item is taken from the San Diego Tribune:

Of more than usual interest to society folk of San Diego and Colorado is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mildred Needham, the charming and talented daughter of former Congressman and Mrs. J. C. Needham, to Lieut. Edward T. Taylor, Jr., son of Congressman Taylor of Colorado. The wedding will be one of the most interesting social events of this fall. Miss Needham is a member of the Smith college and the Zeta Rho club. She is especially clever in many large society functions at Hotel del Coronado and club events in San Diego. Miss Needham is at present with her parents in Berkeley, at 2574 College avenue.

Mr. Taylor is a graduate of the University of Colorado and the George Washington law school, Washington, D. C., and is a member of the Delta Tau Delta and Phi Delta Phi fraternities. For the last three months he has attended the O. R. T. C. at Fort Meyer, Va., where he received his commission. He is now stationed at Fort Riley, Kan. The wedding, which was to have been one of the fall social events in Berkeley, will take place October 12, at the quarters of Lieutenant and Mrs. Ralph Hospital, owing to the inability of Lieutenant Taylor to obtain leave.

Mrs. Frank Helm and son, Frank Helm, Jr., are spending the fair week in town, and will return to Piedmont next week.

Mrs. H. W. Neely is at home after an extended summer sojourn in Berkeley, and is now enjoying a sojourn at her ranch at Del Rey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stebbins are down from Berkeley for a visit with Fresno friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cox (Berita Fisher) are up from San Pedro, where the former is stationed with the naval reserve corps, and are guests of Mr. Cox's mother, Mrs. C. S. Cox, while on sick leave. Mr. and Mrs. Cox will be in Fresno for a week or ten days, and as this is the first opportunity their friends have had to greet them since their romantic marriage about a month ago, their sojourn will doubtless be made a very gay one.

John Nelson James is down from San Francisco for a work-and-sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Meehan are anticipating a visit from the former's nephew, James Carroll, a recent graduate of the University of Illinois, who is now in the aviation department of the United States army. He will be accompanied by George Waters of Elmira, N. Y., who is in the same department of the service.

Mrs. E. E. Young, Miss Young and Dwight Young returned on Thursday night from a delightful summer sojourn in Medford, Oregon. They will be joined shortly by Mr. Young, who is detained in the north by business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Dean Present have returned from a ten-day sojourn at their mountain home, Twinbrooks, on Pine Ridge.

Miss Bernice Meehan has returned from San Francisco, where she was the house guest of Miss Elizabeth Pratt.

Walter Eley Dresser returned yesterday from a trip to Portland and Seattle.

Miss Louise Eley is back from a pleasure trip to San Francisco and bay points.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Peters of Napa, former residents of this county, are visitors over Fair week and are greeting many old-time friends.

Mrs. R. L. Hubbard, who has been the house guest of her sister, Mrs. W. D. Crichon, for a time, leaves tonight for Ocoqui Park, where she will visit relatives before going on to her home in Dyersburg, Tenn. She will join her

Lillian Russell's Beauty Talks

As the holiday-cid is returning to her home and conventional customs, she will find that the summer has played havoc with her skin and complexion. That is, if she has not been careful to keep her skin in good condition during the summer months. It is not too late to do so now, and the best way to do so is by using Lillian Russell's Beauty Cream.

With her skin and complexion. That is, if she has not been careful to keep her skin in good condition during the summer months. It is not too late to do so now, and the best way to do so is by using Lillian Russell's Beauty Cream. The cream is made of the finest ingredients and is applied to the face and neck three or four times a day. At night, before going to bed, it should be applied to the face and neck, and the skin should be allowed to dry on the skin without being wiped off. It penetrates the pores, and the perspiration of the skin is absorbed, and the skin is left soft and smooth, and the shine from the skin, and not to be a mask.

After using this lotion, the oil or pure cold cream made of oil should be gently rubbed on the face, and then rubbed off with the finest piece of old linen possible to obtain. Care should be taken in regard to powder used when the skin is in a condition of itching or shedding. No lead or chalk should be put on the face. A pure rice or starch powder may be secured, and it should never be white, even on the most delicate skin. The darker the powder, the better it is, but to smooth and remove the shine from the skin, and not to be a mask.

It is a great mistake to plaster white powder over a sunburned face. We see much of that done in seaside resorts, and painted lips, white enameled noses and sunburned cheeks are some of the latest fashions in the world of the summer. A sure cure for sunburned skin is to keep the skin cool and moist. Some berries make this treatment for the complexion a rest cure after the summer campaign, and some oil, refreshed and made beautiful, when used, without a sign upon the face of summer heat. I would suggest the latter as a sure and better cure than all others for any use of the face. Before going to a country where the sun is so hot, it is difficult to keep the face cool, and to keep the face cool, it is necessary to use a cream that will keep the face cool and moist.

ATTACKS POLICEMAN WHILE UNDER ARREST

Joseph Parker, known also as Joe McGurk, in quadruple circles, was arrested at the fair grounds yesterday on a charge of resisting an officer. He, along with several others, jumped the fence into the fair grounds, and on three being arrested by the police, all of them with the exception of Parker went to the gate and paid the entrance money. Parker was being taken to the gate to be released when he suddenly turned on Policeman William McNeill and struck him on the mouth and knocked him down. Parker then bolted into the crowd, but was captured later and lodged in jail.

The State Council of Industries wants figures on the amount of garbage disposed of in Fresno from January to July, 1917, in order to ascertain if the local conservation plan is bringing about results. LESSONS FOR SOLDIERS.

The war department has issued a series of lessons for prospective soldiers. Civilians who complete these lessons are advised to begin practicing these lessons in advance of the time of joining. A group of raw recruits is not inspiring. They are awkward, gawky, stiff in the joints, weak in the muscles, without wind or endurance. Six months later they can scarcely be recognized as the same individuals. The objects of these lessons is to cause the recruit to be a little less sloppy, slouchy, and gawky when he presents himself in ranks.

Making Yourself "Fit"
If you can devote part of your time between now and the opening of the war to physical exercise you are fortunate to have every opportunity. Climbing, jumping, gymnastic exercises, all kinds of competitive games, swimming, rowing, boxing, wrestling, and running are all recommended as excellent methods of increasing the skill, strength, endurance, grace, courage, and self-reliance that every soldier needs.

There are some simple rules of eating and living which all of us should follow regularly. They will be especially helpful to you if you will put them into practice in preparing for camp life.

Perhaps the most important of these rules is to use no alcohol of any kind. If you have been in the habit of smoking moderately, cut down; get your wind; your nerves and your digestion into the best possible condition.

Get your mind moderately. Chew your food well. It is advisable, however, to drink a great deal of cool (not cold) water between meals. Don't eat between meals.

Keep away from soda fountains and soft drink stands. Learn to enjoy simple, nourishing food.

Accustom yourself to regular hours for sleeping, eating, and the morning routine. Don't "Take a Last Fling."

Don't "Take a Last Fling." It may land you in the hospital. At the best it probably brings you into camp in an unfit condition to take up your new duties with profit and enjoyment.

Another suggestion taken from the official bulletin is that prospective soldiers spend a few minutes each day practicing the standing position and bearing of the soldier. When we are disposed to laugh at the glowering awkwardness of the raw recruit it is well to remember that he is a picked man. His average height is 5 feet 7 inches, his weight 150 pounds, and his health and efficiency far above the general population. There is need for the prospective soldier to follow this advice from the war department. There is equal or greater need for his observance by civilians.

Lumps Behind Ear
Mrs. McF. writes: "My little girl, 5 years old, is seemingly a very healthy child, but she has two lumps behind her left ear about the size of a large bean. They are movable and never get sore or inflamed. They are present all winter. Do you think it is anything dangerous? Could it be mastoid abscess? What shall I do for it?"

"How long is there danger of rupture after an operation for appendicitis?"
REPLY:
1. The lumps are enlarged lymph glands. These are due to infection which probably is entering through the skin. Have you examined her head carefully for insect bites? Infection through head lice would be a frequent cause for such lumps. It is not dangerous. It is not unusual for a child to have a lump of the cause the lumps will disappear in all probability.

2. For a year anyway.
One Way to Reduce
W. C. writes: "Will you please advise me how I can reduce my weight. I am 25 years old, 5 feet 3 inches in height, and weigh 175 pounds. What is my proper weight? Will you also give a list of nonfat producing foods?"

REPLY:
The weight for your age, sex, and height is 155 pounds. This is but one way to reduce, and that is to lessen the quantity of food eaten. The articles to be eliminated in the order of importance are: (1) Bread, including cereals; (2) desserts; (3) sweets and especially candy; (4) pastries not included in 1, 2, and 3; (5) sugar included in 1, 2, and 3; (6) potatoes; (7) peas, beans and other very starchy vegetables, grains, and nuts; (8) sweet fruits. Eat freely of lean meat and watery vegetables and fruit and reasonably freely of fats of various kinds.

Worms in Children
Mrs. J. P. writes: "What causes the little white worms in adults and children, and how can I get rid of them? Are they injurious to health?"

REPLY:
Infection with these worms comes from eating meat from contaminated sources. The worms live in the large intestine. Give the child a dose of worm medicine, followed by a purgative, then give an emulsion of quassia decoction. (Roll two ounces of quassia chips or powder in a pint of water). Repeat this emulsion once or twice a day for a week.

Potato Leak Serious Food Menace in Delta Region

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Careful culling of all wounded tubers will solve for potato growers in the San Joaquin Valley the problem of controlling a serious disease known as potato leak. Reducing the number of wounded tubers by employing better methods of harvesting also is urged as a measure of control by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture in a recent publication regarding the control of the disease in the San Joaquin Valley. The publication, "Bulletin 577 of the department," "Experiments in the Control of Potato Leak."

Preliminary experiments in 1915 indicated that leak might be controlled by sorting. At the time of the considerable economic importance in the delta region of San Joaquin County it was considered advisable to continue the experiments in 1916. On the farm selected for the experiments a number of crops of potatoes had been grown. In several cases of the 1915 crop had been culled and considerable damage from leak had been reported.

In the experiments conducted by department investigators potatoes were harvested and sorted in the field in the usual way. Observations were made on various shipments which were made after reaching their destinations. A detailed report of these observations is contained in the publication mentioned.

Out of 1,000 sacks of potatoes harvested under observation, 170 sacks were injured ones which offered opportunity for sorting. The purpose was to obtain entrance through breaks in the skin. That such a high percentage of potatoes should be injured indicates very poor harvesting methods, the specialists say. Nur does this 170 sacks represent all the injured potatoes, as these injured by fork wounds were supposed to have been sorted out in the field. Much of such damage might be eliminated with proper care, but as long as the potatoes are harvested with forks it is likely that there will be a high percentage of injured tubers. The digging very little in this region although potato

AT THE THEATERS

BILLIE BURKE HAS POLICE AT HER HEELS

The Will King Company Will Open At White October 6

WATCH YOUR STEP - WHITE

BILLIE BURKE KINEMA (PHOTOPLAYS)

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS - LIBERTY PHOTOPLAYS - WHITE

LAURA VAIL - PLAZA

There is not a full front street scene in "Watch Your Step" showing the international sensation, Billie Burke, which will come to the White Theater tomorrow (Sunday) night, September 30, for one night only.

"Watch Your Step" is made up of a series of short scenes, each a masterpiece of comedy, and a half-dozen of the most beautiful young women that have ever been seen in New York with a traveling musical organization. It is not a "No. 2 show," but a first-class production.

"Watch Your Step" is a dancing show, as its title implies. The story begins in a lawyer's office, where a young man is found to be the future of the day's work, and participated in by all of the people belonging thereto and the visitors within their gates. The typewriter, the clients and the lawyers of the firm dance a bit before and after taking evidence or reading a will.

"MYSTERIOUS MISS TERRY" AT KINEMA

The average mortal doesn't get the chance, often, to live in a big city boarding house, and then have his or her cherished ambition come true. The average mortal feels that this sort of thing just happens in books, but how about admissible Billie Burke on the screen? She makes not one, but three appearances in this rattling style. And has the Police Dogging Her Footsteps too.

Miss Billie, all the while that she scatters happiness, gets mixed up in a snicker-snicker robbery (nearly ends fatally) and to Tommy McLean, runs the police off their feet in a mad chase after the mysterious Miss Terry, and, finally emerges smilingly as the society debutante, Miss Wentworth. Gelett Burgess wrote it, which is tantamount to saying that the spectacle is getting the real thing in the shape of a certain, mystery story. No one has guessed it yet, until the final scene. Pearl White in "The Fatal Ring" and Hayakawa in Wallace Irwin's "Hashimura Togo" tomorrow.

Tomorrow brings to the cinema—the famous Japanese school boy Hashimura Togo and the first chapter of the fastest swiftest and best serial that Pearl White has ever appeared in.

Monday has Max Marsh in Margaret Angers' "Dolls of the Circus" and Wednesday sees D. W. Griffith's mammoth "Intolerance," the mightiest theme that screen or stage possesses.

"WALK THIS WAY" AT PLAZA SUNDAY

It is announced that on Sat., Oct. 6th, the Will King company, now playing at the Plaza Airplane, will open at the White Theater for a short run, the Airplane closing for the season.

At the White, the company will continue to present the same high class musical comedies as heretofore played, with one performance nightly except on Saturdays and Sundays, one performance nightly except on Saturday and Sunday when two nightly performances will be given and also one matinee, each day. The company will open with a bargain matinee on the 6th.

Tonight will mark the last two performances of "The Very Idea" at the Plaza, rounding out the second highly successful week of this clever company.

Commencing Sunday night, at both performances will be presented an other hilarious revue entitled "Walk This Way." It is one of those indie indie laughing hits for which Will King has become popular throughout the west and is teeming with humor and melody.

All of the favorites will be happily and the chorus will offer some new dances and popular song numbers while the costumes and scenery will leave nothing to be desired.

Oil News

NEW TERRITORY TO OPEN IN KERN

Finding of Oil at McFarland Assures New and Promising Field

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 28.—Reports that the Hale-McLeod people who have been drilling a well seven miles east of Mc-Farland have secured 50 feet of oil sand, with heavy pressure, at a depth of 1,429 feet, is confirmed by M. G. Youkum, who is interested in lands in the immediate vicinity of the well. The oil is of 21 gravity. Oil men who have been watching the operations of the Hale-McLeod people believe that a new territory has been opened up. The well is about 22 miles north of Bakersfield and some seven or eight miles southeast of Delano. The drillers have discontinued drilling until the 10-inch casing can be laid and the water that is believed to be below the oil sand is accounted for.

About 20 miles south of McFarland the Standard has brought in a small well on section 27, 28, 29 on the North Kern river front. Other companies notably the Associated and Union, have tied up lands on the North river front and the Associated also is drilling there.

Geologists who have examined the new district report that the field possibly will cover an extent of 20,000 acres, making it larger than the Kern river field and one of the largest in California. Its close proximity to railroad facilities, the comparatively shallow depth at which oil is encountered, and the grade of the oil, together with the excellent water conditions, indicate that the field may be one of the best if not the best fields in the west.

Drilling Shut Down.
Drilling of the well has been practically suspended since last Friday night.
The shut down was ordered when the extent of the first sand was determined.
The well will be deepened in the belief that a second and better sand will be found at a slightly greater depth.

The well was cased with 15 1/2 inch casing. This was stopped at a depth of 207 feet and a string of 12 1/2 inch pipe put in. This string was landed at 1,129 feet. The operators were unable to proceed 10 inch casing at that time and went on with 8 1/2 inch pipe. This pipe is the smallest now in the hole.

It is the belief of the drillers that a heavy stratum of water may exist below the oil sand and in order to handle this effectively it is encountered they have procured 10 inch pipe which will be put in at once and the smaller casing guaranteed. The present plan is to redrill on the 10 inch landing it at approximately 1,300 and then finish the hole with the 8 1/2 inch pipe. The drillers believe that the second sand will be found at a depth of not greater than 24,000 feet.

Hale is Interested.
The drilling has been done by an unorganized syndicate of which Nathan W.
Hale of the Hale-McLeod Syndicate, a well known oil operator on the west side of the head. Active superintendency of the work has been in the hands of Tray Gwinn, superintendent of the Hale-Mc-Leod lease. W. McInerney is drilling for him.

Mr. Youkum stated today that the well has been watched closely by a large number of practical oil men and that they have unanimously pronounced it better territory than the North Kern field. It lies about 12 miles to the north of the scene of the Standard without well on section 27, 28, 29, which according to report, recently developed a well flowing 400 barrels of 18 gravity oil. The Standard well is said to be in the first sand at about 2,400 feet.

"Our geologists told us that there were dips in the formation and that we were drilling on one of the rises," said Mr.
Youkum. "Our log shows us that the geologists were absolutely right. We have opened up a comparatively shallow territory producing light oil. The extent of the field of course is problematical, but we have reason to believe that it is sufficient in size to materially increase the world's production of oil."

SEEK ACCOUNTING IN SUIT AGAINST AGENCY

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 28.—Motion to strike out portions of complaints and demurrers have been filed in the Kern county superior court by the Independent Oil Producers agency and the Union Oil company in suits filed by the Security Development company, May Oil company, Oil & Crude Oil company, Bain Bagley Oil company. Settlement of the suits is being sought by independent agency alleging that the contract entered into with the defend-ent agency by plaintiff companies had not been fulfilled in regard to the sale of oil at the highest market price.
Complaints also alleged that the Producer agency had imported oil from Mexican fields which tended to lower the price of California oil. George W.
Lane and Hubert T. Morrow of Los Angeles are attorneys for defendant agency and Union Oil company.

JUDGMENT IS GIVEN OILMAN FOR $16,000

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 28.—A recent decision handed down by the supreme court is that of "Ingalls versus the Monte Cristo company," which was tried in Kern county superior court in April, 1911. The judgment including interest on the original sum of $16,000 has now reached the sum of $16,000.
The case when tried attracted considerable attention and was bitterly fought. Plaintiff was a young man who received a severe injury to his head while working for the Monte Cristo Oil company. The injury being of such nature as to seriously impair Ingalls' mind. When judgment in favor of plaintiff was made by the superior court, the oil company appealed and the case was twice in the appellate court and finally landed in the supreme court, which has just affirmed the action of the lower court. Attorneys for plaintiff were R. H. Wilson and M. S. Platz, and for defendant were Henry Ach of San Francisco and George C. Whitaker and Rowen Irwin of Bakersfield.

ST. HELENS WILL INCREASE OUTPUT

TAFT, Sept. 28.—Though the principal owners of the St. Helens Petroleum company are in far away England, they are keeping close tabs on what is doing in its field. The field and are keeping up a steady increase of production on the property on section 18, 22, 23. One string is kept going at all times that the property may be drilled up and advantage taken of the present high price of oil. Drilling was

Special Auto Exhibit At The Fair

Don't miss the Chalmers exhibit at the Auto Show. Don't put off—see it first.

Remember the Chalmers is today the undisputed holder of 15 of the hardest and most spectacular speed records within the range of motor cars driven on a stock chassis.

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association has certified the Chalmers as the winner of the 24 Hour World's Record, and 14 other similar records.

Business conditions all over the country are thriving. The present hour prosperity in Fresno and vicinity is without parallel. We think and faithfully believe the present happy conditions in this section will get better and richer every month.

Consequently we have contracted for more Chalmers cars than ever in our business history. Let us show you the Chalmers line—composed of 10 smart and different types: Fine looking and different models:

A Roadster that has the "stuff" under the bonnet and a rhythm of motion in every line.

A Town Car that will set many tongues going once it gets at your front door.

A 5-passenger Touring Car that for good sense, good power at low cost has, we feel, never been equaled before in its type.

A Sedan that weighs relatively little, steers easily, and is handy to drive.

A Cabriolet that approaches the limit in comfort.

A Limousine in good taste, and thoroughly cozy.

A Speedster that guarantees 80 miles an hour.

A 7-passenger Touring Car minus superfluous weight but sure.

A Town Car Landulet that reaches a new peak in smartness.

A Limousine Landulet that is bound to become popular.

These cars are provoking much pleasant comment in those places where good cars are discussed. Whether you intend to buy or not, come and get posted on the trend in motor cars.

well, which is to be put down as usual with a rotary. The No. 22 well was completed a few days before the starting of the No. 23, at a depth of 3,500 feet. It is doing about 250 barrels daily. The derrick for the No. 23 is to go up in the next few days, that it may be ready for the drilling crew as the No. 23 is in the oil sand.

RECORD IS MADE IN PIPE LINING

TAFT, Sept. 28.—An instance of record work was shown a few days ago when a call came from the Bel-ridge Oil company for a crew of men to lay a three-inch gas pipe line from the Belridge No. 2 to the California station of the Associated Pipe Line company. The order was given the Virginia Pipe Line Contracting company and came when not a man was in sight. A crew was assembled within a half hour, and dispatched to strike the pipe, while Virginia Graham made a tour of the derrick in search of men to dig the ditch. Within two hours trucks were on the way to the Bel-ridge property, laden with men, and within a dozen hours the ditch was fast being made.

OIL COMPANY IS PUBLIC UTILITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—The railroad commission has ordered the Traders Oil company to establish a public utility, that its natural gas rate of 10 cents a thousand cubic feet for natural gas served to the Contra-Costa Pipe Line company. Some months ago the Traders Oil company asked the commission to declare that it was not a public utility, that its natural gas well was not dedicated to public use, and that it be permitted to discontinue gas service, and to use its gas for its own purposes and be allowed to charge 80 cents a thousand cubic feet for any gas sold. The commission found last month that the company is a public utility.

BURLESON AND HIS UMBRELLA

The postmaster general, Mr. Burleson, always carries an umbrella. No matter when or where he goes, invariably he carries a "showy stick" with him, and it is a disconcerting looking one at that. The closed umbrella has a dingy green cover and a crooked handle and bulges out at the bottom as if a peck of greens or a dressed chicken were concealed therein.
Friends of Mr. Burleson have tried repeatedly to break him of the umbrella-carrying habit. But it has done no good. He ignores their appeals.
Admirers have given him at least a dozen new umbrellas since he became a member of the President's cabinet, hoping that he would discard the old one that is his constant companion. But he has never carried any of them, so far as has been discovered.
When he was asked by an inquisitive admirer why he always carried an umbrella in preference to a cane or swagger stick, now the rage among army officers in Washington, Mr.
Burleson smiled and merely said: "Oh, it's just a hobby of mine. I find this umbrella brings me good luck."

ANIMAL CURIOSITY

A cow will approach a new object fascinated, but with timorous suspicion, and a horse is even more timid, gazing at a distance for a while, ready to flee in a moment. The monkey will snatch at everything that is new and deliberately examine it till, finding that he cannot eat it or make anything with it, he will drop it and let it pass from his shadowy memory. There is a pathos in the slowness of animal curiosity. It is so easily satisfied. The thought, if thought it be, usually ends with the first flash of surprise and the impression of safety.—From an exchange.

WORK OF AMERICAN RED CROSS IN WAR ZONE

How Money Is Being Spent in Caring for Men
on Battlefield

Plea Is Made for Housing of Helpless People of Devastated Lands

The American Red Cross now has more than a dozen base hospitals in France, each equipped with at least 500 beds, and in charge of twenty-two physicians, two dentists, sixty-five Red Cross nurses and the enlisted men of the medical corps. Additional doctors and nurses have been sent to a number of the hospitals.

This is the statement contained in a communication to the Fresno chapter Red Cross by the Washington authorities, in answer that is being general in keeping the contributors to the various Red Cross funds posted as to the channels through which aid is given where the need seems the greatest.

Buildings Needed
Permanent buildings of a modern type to replace the tents and temporary structures now occupied by Red Cross base hospitals in France are urgently needed before winter sets in, according to cables received from Major Grayson M. P. Murphy, Red Cross commissioner to France, who has called the Red Cross War Council to ship quantities of building materials at once.

Increased suffering, owing especially to the shortage of coal, will result unless structures built to withstand the cold can be erected before the rigors of a French winter grip the country. The building problem is so serious in France, owing to the scarcity of timber, that Major Murphy has called for the immediate shipment of 2,000,000 feet of fir.

Portable Sawmills
Giant fir trees are now being felled on the banks of the Columbia river, in Oregon and Washington, and hurriedly loaded aboard a ship to carry the lumber through the Panama canal to New York, where two complete portable sawmills will be taken on, as well as other building material, before the ship sails for France.

The supplies requested by Major Murphy include four concrete mixers, four portable rock-crushers and portable engines, and two gasoline tractors to be used in the construction work. These will be taken aboard at New York. There are already a number of expert engineers with the Red Cross commission to France who will superintend the erection of the new hospital buildings.

SEQUOIA PARK CLOSES
SUNDAY FOR SEASON
Owing to prevailing cold weather in the high Sierra and for lack of further patronage, the Giant Forest post-office in the Sequoia National park and the General Grant post-office in the General Grant National park will be closed for the season at the close of September 30, 1917. Likewise all park commissioners will cease operations at the specified time.

Persons wishing to visit these parks after September 30 will be required to furnish their own means of transportation and camping facilities. The season just passed exceeded by far that of any previous year in the number of visitors to the two reservations since their establishment.

MARKLEY SUES

O. L. Markley yesterday filed suit against Ella M. Jones and C. R. Jones, to collect a $500 promissory note under date of December 12, 1914. Annie Morton is made a party to the suit, having purchased the property covered in the mortgage. W. D. Crickton is attorney for the plaintiff.

THIS Oldsmobile Model 45 is for the family that wants the maximum of pleasure and durability in a car that is a credit to their social and business standing—at a moderate first cost and light maintenance expense thereafter.

The high powered, perfected eight-cylinder motor puts a new zest into driving—banishes driving strain. Its remarkable flexibility makes frequent gear shifting unnecessary. The quick "get away" and sprightly "pick-up" give an added confidence and pleasure in driving. There is a fascinating smoothness of overlapping power impulses which provide a continuous flow of power that is greater than may ever be used except on very rare occasions. And to these advantages is to be added mechanical silence and a gasoline consumption unusually low—even when compared with that of much less powerful cars.

The compactness of the simple V-type motor makes possible an exceptional roominess and carrying capacity of body. Comfortable ease of riding at all speeds is assured by the long underslung rear springs and double tiered spring cushion upholstery.

The graceful simplicity and dignity of body design bespeak Oldsmobile distinction in every line. The coachwork is of a very high standard, and compares favorably with that in any car built today. The 17-coat finish, the long grained French leather upholstery, the luxurious completeness of appointments and refinements of equipment are such as are expected from only the finest and most costly cars.

Yet the price of this Model 45 Oldsmobile is not the several thousand dollars that might be expected for a car of its quality—it is $1620. L. O. B. Fresno.

GOVERNOR NEUTRAL ON SCOTT QUESTION

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 28.—In connection with the statement of eleven members of local exemption boards in Los Angeles that they would resign unless Joseph Scott, chairman of the district exemption board there, tendered his resignation to Governor Stephens or changed his policy, it was pointed out today at the governor's office that he has no power to demand or request the resignation of any member of an exemption board. Should members resign, the governor's function is to recommend names of other men to President Wilson for appointment.

MILLION YEARLY, IS INCOME TAX FRAUD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Evidence that individuals and corporations in California are defrauding the government out of approximately $1,000,000 yearly income taxes through the filing of false affidavits was revealed today with the departure of C. CHILDREN TAKE FAIR BY STORM; FILL GROUNDS FROM NOON TILL NIGHT

It began when the gates swung open. It reached high tide when the school bells changed the noon hour. It ended long after the last rocket faded in the sky and a stranger noiselessly trooped through an exit and whistled his way home.

It was children's day at the Fresno District Fair. And from early until late the thousands revolved like whirlpools in a kale.

They were all there. There was laughing Alana and grave Alice and the one with the golden hair, whatever her name was wasn't matter. She was there, too. And the hard-boiled boy with check of his face in a thousand different sizes east from as many different mouths and squinted with as many different freckles. And Tom Sawyer was there. And Huck Finn. And Lorey Mary. They were all there, just as if they had stepped off the bookshelves. None was missing.

Even Helen's babies were there. It was children's day. And they were the only kind she had. And they were bigger. But they weren't. And she wanted to go. And she couldn't leave them at home. So she juggled them alone. And they couldn't eat hot dogs or anything. And they anchored Helen. And when the day chewing or gumming or whatever it is, they do with pacifiers, and Helen was extra she was so young and they were so young, but they were there, none new. And that was something.

Until the wonderful bombs began to explode in the sky, unfurling inflated straws and zebus, elephants and old motor Hubbard's dropping car-corded balloons, swirling like and yellow clouds, scattering through the air, coming chaos of golden light or surging the hues of the Allied nation at war, the kiddies army marched in open formation at the edge of a charging host "going over the top" and down the line and wide enough that the line between the middle parted tents of the run-milkers of the Fair.

And if savings banks were not blown or axed before all the Toms and Huck and grave Alice and laughing Alana and freckled-faced, barefoot boys left home for their expedition of wonderland, then daddy or mother must have "come through" without stint. Dimes clinked in the faires till until the din outdied a piano tuner working on the high keys. They saw the "Spider Girl." And they couldn't understand what was so unusual about her. They'd all the Toms and Huck—been caught in the web of spider girls. And they saw the two-headed boy—Frank and Henry. And they saw Henry talk to Frank and Frank talk back to Henry. And they wondered what would happen if they ever got into a fight. And if Frank liked bananas and Henry didn't, and Frank ate one, what would Henry do?

And they went through Monkey Town and didn't see how the flea circus managed to keep so much in the United States in the last year. We are very fortunate in having it here at the Fresno District Fair. Third race, three heat plan, open to all cars under 450 cubic inches, purse $2400.00.

Nearly 6,000 boys watched the athletic meet and cheered each winner. They sat through the extraordinary display of daytime fireworks programmed for their special delight. They cheered each beautiful bomb. Never have such remarkable daylight fireworks been displayed at the Fair as were shown yesterday in honor of children's day. Even the grown-ups forgot the races as the great bombs, each containing some new surprise or some new fiery figure, exploded in the sky.

Until Cooper and Patterson began to try out the track and long after sundown thousands of children sat in their seats, both to leave for fear they might miss some new sight. During the morning the children inspected the livestock and the horticultural exhibits, and at 11 o'clock a special lecture, accompanied by demonstrations, was given at the Boys' Agricultural club's booth. At 2:30 o'clock, after they had swarmed into the grandstand the children were thrilled by Ed Dooley's ride, handcuffed, up one side and down the other of the temporary track that rises like a pyramid in the center of the field encircled by the race track.

At 5 o'clock in the evening all the children who had not grown too tired to flock back into the bleachers and screamed with delight as the Fresno City Fireworks staged the fourth chapter of the luminous circle, which is being serially produced by the different organizations of the city.

Then followed the special illuminating and water fireworks gathered by Priestley during a recent visit to Japan and China.

The day's program closed with a big dance on the platform in front of the grand stand. In addition to being children's day, yesterday was Clivia, Kernan, Raisin City, Caruthers Riverdale, Laton and Fresno City Playgrounds Day.

THE HOUSE OF COURTESY AND GOOD SERVICE

A GREAT BATTLE

Every one of us human beings loves to live and get all out of life we can. Some enjoy life a great deal more than others, while others have much higher ideals than others. Still, every healthy person, old or young, rich or poor, clings to life and is ready to fight for it regardless of the quarrels they have had with the cook because she could not make pumpkin pie like mother used to make. With the mortality of us the first battle we have to wage is the one to make both ends meet. The bread basket is not always an easy one to fight, still there are thousands of healthy men and women, who find lots of enjoyment in the struggle to supply their wants and the dear loved ones dependent upon them. However, the hardest fight of all is when you are aware that the enemy of disease comes knocking at your door, and demands to be admitted. At first the knock may be slight and we pay but little attention and can scarcely find time to listen, until it comes more frequent and stronger, and we realize that we have been struck with a heavy blow. This gentle knocking at first may commence in the way of a slight headache and loss of appetite, a little dizziness, palpitation of the heart, and as the little knocks become more frequent, there is a shortness of breath caused from gas in the stomach which presses against the valves of the heart, and in time may bring on heart disease, all of which we call trifling ailments, until another blow comes which brings to memory a friend that has gone before. It sometimes takes a friend to tell you that you are looking bad. You are aware that you are losing weight, have poor digestion, a coated tongue, a bad breath and suffer from habitual constipation. All of which might be avoided by taking M. A. C., the greatest stomach remedy on earth. It digests all kinds of food, regulates your bowels and liver and expels all effete matter from the system. Take it today and feel better tomorrow. M. A. C. is for sale by all leading druggists at one dollar per bottle, six for $5.00.

HICKMAN INSURANCE SUIT IS FINISHED

Is Submitted to Court at Hanford; Earl Rogers Closes Arguments

HANFORD, Sept. 28.—With the filing of certain authorities, the hearing of the insurance suit brought by Frank Hickman against several insurance companies, to recover $25,000 damages, came to an end today. The matter now rests with Judge M. L. Short, before whom the suit has been heard.

Today's plea given over to Earl Rogers, who addressed Judge Short on behalf of Hickman. Rogers declared that Hickman was entitled to judgment for the amount claimed on account of the fire in November, 1915. He reviewed the testimony of the different witnesses, including that of W. A. Jenks, in particular. Rogers quoted numerous authorities to show that Hickman was entitled to recover damages, even if Jenks did not place the place on fire. Rogers declared that Jenks was Hickman's employee, if he set the place on fire it was not Hickman's fault and therefore Hickman could recover.

The Hickman suit for damages arose out of a fire that took place at the Hickman store in Fresno, in November, 1915. The day following the fire, Jenks confessed to setting the place on fire. He alleged that Hickman, who was then in San Francisco, conspired with him to set the place on fire. Jenks and later Hickman were arrested. Jenks was later released on probation.

DUTCH DEFEND GERMAN BANK

International Comedy Enacted in Far Away Peking

PEKING.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Troops of the Dutch Legation as custodians of the German interests here, for a time guarded the Deutsch Asiatische Bank against soldiers from the legations of the Entente powers who were sent to seize the property of the bank when China declared war against Germany and Austria. Chinese troops were not allowed to enter the Legation quarter, where the bank was located, as this section is international territory and when the Entente Legations attempted to get the bank.

The Dutch Legation insisted that any authority to enter the banking property must come from the Chinese foreign office. A French sequestrator who represented that he had been authorized by the Chinese Government to take over the bank, was denied admission to it until he presented proper credentials.

Meanwhile, for hours a mixed crowd of British troops, including Sikhs from the British legation, Italian marines, Annamese from the French Legation, Japanese and Corsicans, stood guard outside the gates of the bank compound. Dutch soldiers held their ground inside the gates and a crowd of curious Chinese watched the little international comedy at a safe distance.

After hours of delay, satisfactory papers were obtained and representatives of the various legations present were admitted to the bank, where the records were closed with seals of the French, Chinese and British legations. The Chinese and British remained on duty at the entrance and the other guards returned to their various legations.

The American Legation did not send a guard. It received no request direct from the Chinese foreign office, and the Legation took the position that the Dutch were entrusted with the German interests and were quite competent to take over the bank without the presence of other legations.

Holland had taken the German Legation over at the time China severed diplomatic relations with Germany in March and the Dutch flag already flew over it. As the Chinese did not see fit to interfere Germans and Austrians and to take over enemy buildings and business in Chinese territory, there was no evidence of war preparations outside the Legation quarter.

HINDU WANTED FOR CONSPIRACY IS CAUGHT HERE

Deva Singh Alleged to Have Sent Men and Money to India

Held Under $10,000 Bail for Hindu Conspiracy Cases in S. F.

Sought for months by special agents of the department of justice, Deva Singh, a Hindu, was arrested late Thursday night on the Guinn ranch, twelve miles northwest of Fresno, and is being held in Fresno on a charge of conspiracy. Singh will be removed to San Francisco within a few days. Yesterday he was arraigned before United States Commissioner Heflick for preliminary hearing under $10,000 bonds.

Indictment has been returned against Deva Singh in connection with the so-called Hindu conspiracy cases in which more than 100 arrests have already been made. It is alleged in the indictment that on August 1, 1914, at Fair Oaks, Sacramento county, Deva Singh did attempt to set on foot a military enterprise against India, by sending men, money and munitions to India with intent thereby to render assistance to Germany and hinder the military operations of Great Britain by inciting mutiny in India.

Deva Singh, who has been sought for many months by the special agents for the United States department of justice, was located on the Guinn ranch by Deputy United States Marshal Shannon and placed under arrest.

The Hindu was first questioned in regard to going to work at a point in the Sacramento valley. He said that his name was Deva Singh and that he would accept the position, but the Hindu denied his identity when informed that he wasn't wanted for a job but was wanted by the United States government.

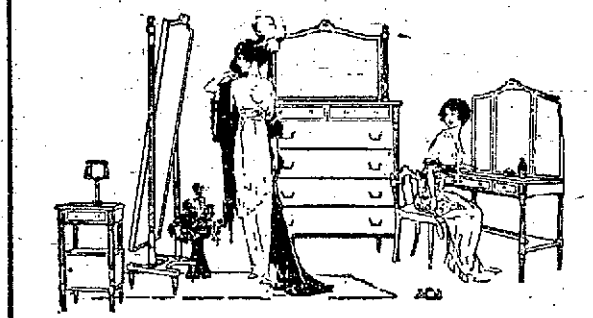

The charge was sworn to by J. M. Blanford, special agent in charge for the Hindu investigation for the government.

HIGH SCHOOL NOW READY FOR WORK

Classes Will Go Straight to Work on Monday Morning

Class lists were made out and students assigned to their classes at the opening of the high school yesterday. Principal Walter O. Smith announced that there are still a few students working in the mountains or on ranches, but he expects that all the students will be at work on Monday morning. The session yesterday was for only a half day. The registration numbers are up to what was expected.

Principal Smith states that when the school opens on Monday morning the students will go straight to work in their first period recitations, and the regular day's work will be followed through. The principal wishes the school to start with punctuality and to have no time lost.

During the assembly on Monday morning Principal Smith will make the acquaintance of the students and will address them on the subject of their studies and the school arrangements. Enrollments will be made today, and Principal Smith with the vice-principals and W. A. Rohrer will be in attendance to receive additional registrations and to make arrangements to facilitate the opening of the school. William A. Austin, head of the mathematical department, will conduct a book exchange for the purpose of selling second-hand books to students. No student will be permitted to sell second-hand books excepting through Mr. Austin. Students are invited to bring their books for sale to room M-24.

The night school will be opened on Monday night. Principal Smith will be present and have the classes organized.

LIBERTY LOAN WORK IS TO BE STARTED THIS AFTERNOON

Chairman of Committees of County to Assemble at Clearing House

Four-Minute Men Gather About Luncheon Table for Instruction

This afternoon, at a session of the clearing house of Fresno, called for 2 o'clock, the plans for the second liberty loan campaign, for this section, are to be perfected, and the machinery put in operation that shall make possible the individual canvass of the four counties assigned to the organization of Fresno city.

At this conference, the chairman of the sub-committees of all of the centers of population of the territory involved, are to assemble, so that with the close of the day, there shall have been completed the working out of every detail of the plan for the exhaustive canvass contemplated.

O. J. Woodward, president of the Fresno auxiliary committee, is to preside and William Nelson, representing the government, is to outline the work he has in mind in the carrying out of the thought of the federal authorities to the end that every available dollar may be brought into the treasury for the use of Uncle Sam in the prosecution of the war that is now the business—chief business—of the United States.

Speakers Assemble.
Just a half hundred of "em—speakers of the four-minute order—gathered yesterday at the Hotel Fresno for the first of the "four-minute men" campaign, dated for October 1 to 27, the campaign, locally, that is to extend into four counties—Madera, Tulare, Kings and Fresno, and to be directed from this city.

For the luncheon yesterday, M. D. Harris, chairman of the campaign committee, presided, and at the conclusion of the report, briefly and very definitely outlined the duties to which the men of his committee have been called.

Mr. Harris made it plain that this is to be a service of love, in expression of the loyalty that may be burning in the individual bones, and that explicit obedience to all orders is to feature the activities of the elect men. Men Must Prepare.

Special emphasis was laid upon the fact that there must be the fullest preparation for the addresses to be given, that there must be the strictest adherence to the time limit set, whether there be time or license to trespass upon the time allotted for other things; that each speaker must make his own opportunities.

In fact, the order is that these government-commissioned men must, "and in any case," be prepared to give the fact of their appointment being the sufficient credential to warrant the appearance of the speaker wherever "two or three are gathered together."

Any exception to be taken to this instruction order of events is to be regarded as a rank treason, and to be visited with most severe penalty, in the matter of ostracism and of publicity.

At the conclusion of his outlining of duty and of privilege, Mr. Harris called upon one of a representative capacity for some word of appreciation and of purpose.

Loyalty Is Pledged.
For the bar association, Judge M. K. Harris pledged the heartiest co-operation. The Rev. H. O. Dredgen, D. D., for the churches of the city, gave assurance of meeting the committee at every point, for the giving of services and in the exercise of justice.

Dr. Clifford Sweet spoke for the physicians; E. B. Manheim opened the doors of the banks for the rendering of every assistance, and Chester H. Rowell and Chase Osborn obligated the press of the city in the making of this campaign one of education as well as of solicitation.

William Nelson of the Twelfth Reserve District bank, representing the United States government, outlined something of the campaign that is to be started on Monday and featured the thought that the effort must be one of persistent educational emphasis. Four-Minute Men Tonight.

This evening, at the theaters of the city, the four-minute men are to appear—and they are to speak just four minutes, no more, no less and in that time give out one thought that shall "stick" in the thought of every hearer. The assignments are:

Plaza—E. A. Williams.
Bijou—A. W. Carlson.
Liberty (White)—W. O. Miles.
Kinema—William Glass.
Fresno Photo—E. A. Klette.

The topic given the speakers is: "Unmasking German Propaganda."

PROBABILITY OF RAIN IS WEATHER FORECAST

Probability that rain will follow the atmospheric disturbance that is moving northward, is the prediction of Forecaster W. E. Bonnett. During the last two or three days there has been a low-pressure over California, and this developed unsettled weather in the southern part of the state on Friday. A light shower was reported in Los Angeles yesterday. Light, variable winds, are predicted for today, with unsettled weather, probably becoming threatening by the afternoon or at night.
